WHAT YOU'LL LEARN

- Name and interpret the key figures of a care organisation.
- Recognise common reasoning errors in quality and capacity reporting.
- Judge which conclusions a data set does and does not permit.
- Apply GDPR requirements to collecting and retaining special categories of personal data.

COURSE CONTENT

Module 1 — The figures that run a care organisation
Capacity, throughput, absence and cost per client, and what each one actually measures.

Module 2 — Reading a report
Which conclusions the numbers support, and the reasoning errors that turn up most often in quality reporting.

Module 3 — Data in your own practice
What the GDPR requires when you collect, use and retain special categories of personal data.

Module 4 — Final report
You apply the material to your own practice and are assessed against a rubric, with written feedback.
